

Name: Dr. Madhulika Yadav
Designation: Assistant Professor
Department: Political Science
Faculty of Arts Craft and Social Sciences
Email ID: dr.madhyadav14@gmail.com

About: Dr. Madhulika Yadav is an esteemed Political Science scholar with academic experience. She earned her Ph.D. from Banasthali University in 2016, preceded by an M.Phil., M.A., and B.A. from Maharaja Ganga Singh University, Bikaner. Her research delves into political participation, governance, and social movements, with a focus on women's roles in political systems.

With five research publications and participation in ten conferences/seminars, Dr. Yadav has contributed to discussions on democracy, political representation, and gender equality in governance. Her work examines Muslim women's political participation, analyzing social barriers and systemic challenges that limit their engagement in decision-making processes.

Experience: 10 Years

Qualification:

- P.hD Political Science from Banasthali University, 2016
- M.Phil Political Science from Maharaja Ganga Singh University, Bikaner 2008
- M.A. Political Science, Maharaja Ganga Singh University, Bikaner 2006
- B.A. Maharaja Ganga Singh University, Bikaner 2004

No. of Research Publications: 5

No. of Conference/Seminar: 10

Research Work: - मुस्लिम महिलाएँ: राजनीतिक सहभागिता का कमजोर स्तंभ ।।

Areas of Interests:

1. Barriers to Political Representation– Examining societal and institutional hurdles preventing Muslim women from active governance roles.
2. Policy Reforms for Women's Inclusion – Advocating legal and political frameworks to enhance female representation.
3. Intersectionality in Political Participation – Studying how religion, gender, and socio-economic factors influence engagement in democracy.
4. Leadership Challenges and Empowerment – Assessing how Muslim women navigate leadership roles within political structures.