

Name: Dr. Sunaina
Designation: Assistant Professor
Department: Punjabi
Faculty of Arts Craft and Social Sciences
Email ID: ssharmaabh@gmail.com

About: Dr. Sunaina is a dedicated scholar in English Literature, with a strong academic background and ten years of experience in research and teaching. Holding a Ph.D. in English from Tanta University, Sri Ganganagar, Rajasthan, and advanced degrees from Punjab University, Dr. Sunaina has contributed significantly to literary studies, particularly in feminist literature and contemporary Indian writing. With five research publications and participation in ten conferences/seminars, Dr. Sunaina has explored critical themes in literature. Their research work, "Rebelliousness of Women in the Novels of Manju Kapur," examines female resistance, identity, and empowerment in modern Indian narratives. Specializing in gender studies, postcolonial literature, and literary criticism she continues to inspire students and researchers by analyzing literature's role in societal transformation.

Qualification:

- P.hD Punjabi, Tanta University, Sri Ganganagar, Rajasthan 2017
- M.Phil Punjabi, From M.M University, Ambala, Punjab 2010
- M.A. Punjabi, Punjab University, Punjab 2007
- B.A. Punjab University, Punjab 2004

No. of Research Publications: 6

No. of Conference/Seminar: 12

Research Work: - Gurdial Singhdiyan Kahaniyan vich pesh pendu sabhiyachar

Areas of Interests:

1. Feminist Literary Theory – Investigating themes of gender, autonomy, and resistance in literature.
2. Postcolonial Literature – Examining identity and cultural shifts in Indian writings.
3. Modern Indian Literature – Studying contemporary works, especially those addressing societal change.
4. Narrative Techniques and Literary Analysis – Exploring storytelling styles and critical interpretations in literature.