About:

I am Dr. Ram Parkash Sharma, currently working as an Associate Professor in the Department of Sanskrit, Faculty of Arts, Craft & Social Sciences. With 18 years of academic experience, I am deeply engaged in the study, preservation, and dissemination of ancient Indian knowledge systems through Sanskrit literature.

I received my Ph.D. in Sanskrit from Maharaja Ganga Singh University in 2010, after completing my M.A. in Sanskrit in 2004 and B.A. in 2001 from the same university. Over the course of my academic career, I have published 15 research papers and participated in 3 national conferences.

My research work focuses on "A Study of Adbhut Ramayan," exploring the unique philosophical and literary dimensions of this lesser-known version of the Ramayana. My academic interests include classical Sanskrit epics, Vedic and Puranic literature, mythological studies, and the cultural and ethical insights found in ancient texts.

Through my teaching and research, I strive to make Sanskrit literature more accessible and relevant to contemporary scholars and students, while preserving its timeless wisdom.
